

privileged students of ROSHNI(NGO) with the view to making their their Diwali, a real joyous one. DAVIM gave the NGO, a platform to set up stalls of eatables and gift materials. The zealous students of DAVIM , took the initiative and coloured beautiful diyas and made traditional cards and whatever money they got after selling them was given to the Roshni children. And, in this noble task, the Head of the Institute , Dr. Neelam Gulati, gave her full support and appreciated the efforts of the students in lightning up the Diwali of the children of Roshni.

In an attempt to make learning fun, the Institute set up "Diwali Funfair" stall in the premises itself. The theme of the stall was to enhance the coordination of hand and mind with the help of games. As we all know, Games can improve reflexes for situations where you need to act fast. One minute games were organized for students and they were named " Bazi ek minute ki".

The students participated with full zeal and with great enthusiasm. The activity was coordinated by the MBA students. This activity was organized to promote learning through fun-based activities and to make students confident in self-learning. MBA students even participated in managing food stall. Good number of footfall made the fair a grand success.

EFFECTIVE CLASSROOM MANAGEMENT: SKILLS AND TECHNIQUES

The Faculty Development and Publications department organised Faculty Development Programme on Effective Classroom Management: Skills and Techniques on 19th Sept, 2015. Dr. Ritu Gandhi Arora- Director FDP and Publications department introduced the resource persons to the participants and acquainted them with the objective of the session.

The programme started with an Ice Breaking session- followed by various management activities like Mud & Sculpture (An activity depicting teacher student relationship) and how a teacher can be a mentor for her students. Trainers also went in to the detailing a the classroom environment by explaining perception, teachers and students' behaviour, resources and content. They also explained the role of teacher in the changing environment and what qualities a teacher should possess.

It was a fruitful interactive session in which all the discussions were held among faculty & trainers regarding the techniques of managing the students, making the lecture more effective, improvement techniques for mentoring students & forging a strong bond between the two for the effective classroom management. The session was well appreciated by all the faculty members who attended the same.

PRESENT SCENARIO AND FUTURE PROSPECTS IN IT INDUSTRY

The Institute organised one day Faculty Development Programme on "Present Scenario and Future Prospects" in IT Industry on 16th Oct, 2015. The objective of this FDP was acclimatizing the faculty, research scholars and academicians with new trends in the field of Information technology. The FDP was started with an inaugural address by Dr. Neelam Gulati who very succinctly and lucidly outlined the objective of the session and welcome Prof. N.P.Singh (Resource Person) from MDI, Gurgaon.

Prof. Singh provided insights on the practical framework and applications of information technology in today's industry, familiarized the participants with artificial intelligence, how it's capturing the market and where it is heading. All the dignitaries appreciated DAV Institute of Management, Faridabad by stating that the FDP will prove to be an excellent endeavor made by the institute. At the end, Dr. Ritu Gandhi Arora, Director, FDP Cell extended her heartiest thanks to Dr. N.P. Singh and all delegates and dignitaries for making this event a grand success.

